

The image features a central text overlay on a light-colored, circular background. This central area is surrounded by a dense, overlapping collage of various Chinese magazines and newspapers. The covers of these publications are visible, showing a mix of colors and designs. Some prominent titles include '当代' (Contemporary), '当代电视' (Contemporary TV), '当代小说' (Contemporary Fiction), '中国收藏' (China Collecting), '中国书画' (China Calligraphy and Painting), and '当代电视' (Contemporary TV). The overall composition is vibrant and visually busy, representing a wide variety of Chinese media.

Chinese Magazines:

Come to Read in the Library, or Check Out to Read at Home!

Do you know that now you can borrow and check out Chinese magazines and journals in addition to books?

These magazines are both educational as well as entertaining, good for light reading and amusement for college students and general public. These cover literature, history, arts, film, TV drama, calligraphy, and general interests such as health, cuisine, and photography. Here are the 35 titles that are available for check out:

博览群书, 当代电视, 当代电影, 电视剧, 读者, 青年文摘, 世界知识画报, 中国青年, 大家, 大学生, 大众摄影, 大众医学, 当代, 当代小说, 电影艺术, 读书, 画界, 环球人文地理, 人民画报, 人民文学, 人物, 时尚, 十月, 文物天地, 小说月报, 新华月报, 艺术 ART, 艺术当代, 争鸣, 中篇小说选刊, 钟山, 中国书法, 中国书画, 中国收藏。

If you have any questions regarding the Chinese collection at the Hillman Library, please contact librarians Haihui Zhang (haihuiz@pitt.edu), or Xiuying Zou (xiz42@pitt.edu).

