REQUEST DETAILS

Individuals who are working or studying remotely have the option to initiate the ID process online through Panther Central. Once this process is complete, your library account will be available to you 24-48 hours later. Please do not hesitate to Ask Us if you have any questions about library access.

If you have been issued a university computing account through a sponsoring department or program, these accounts provide a Pitt username and password.

Sponsored Accounts General Information

Overview

Sponsored accounts are intended to provide access to those individuals who are not eligible for a Primary account but have legitimate business with the University that requires an account.

Detail

Software Resources

Sponsored Accounts will have limited access to resources, with some needing to be granted manually. Through software.pitt.edu Sponsored Accounts only have access to the VPN. This is due to campus licensing agreements; they won't have access to the same software that Primary accounts get. They also do not have access to the Pitt IT Labs or the Virtual Labs for this licensing reason.

By default, Sponsored Accounts have an A1 Microsoft 365 Education license, which gives them access to things like OneDrive and the online versions of 365 apps. If you have a Sponsored account and a need for an upgraded license, contact the Technology Help Desk to ask about one!

Library Access

Sponsored accounts will have access to Pitt-owned journals through library.pitt.edu, but not non-Pitt owned journals. To access Pitt-owned journals, you'll either need to be connected to Pittnet or connected to the VPN.

Sponsored accounts allow access only to library licensed electronic resources, including journals, articles, and eBooks, via the A-Z list of databases and PittCat. For access to library electronic resources, you must ignore the sign-in prompts within PittCat and click through to the link provided under “Full Text” to access the resource you need. If you continue to experience issues with your sponsored account, please contact your sponsoring department.
